Senders can easily attach and track up to 1GB of files right from inside the Outlook compose window -- or any of the RMail web applications. Senders can send large files securely to any recipient with encryption and configurable self-purging options (from 1 to 90 days) through a secure web container that eliminates the risk of download recipients being able to see sender's cloud storage file structure.

Plus, files auto-purge after 1 to 90 days (configurable) and can be killed early at any time by the sender. No files linger on the Internet – pure compliance bliss.
