

Conditional Fields

5. Tenant's personal information
The tenant agrees to provide their personal information at the time of signing this agreement, including their full name, home address, marital status, and signature in the provided space.

6. Tenant's obligations
The tenant agrees to comply with the obligations established in this agreement, including payment of rent, exclusive use of the property for residential purposes, care of the property, and communication of any necessary repairs or maintenance.

7. Landlord's obligations
The landlord agrees to deliver the residential property in habitable conditions and in good state of conservation, and to perform necessary repairs to maintain the property in good conditions.

This agreement is executed in

Signature

Initials

Name

Address

Marital

Single

Married

Divorced

Note how the signer sees the dependencies based on which radio they selected

5. Tenant's personal information
The tenant agrees to provide their personal information at the time of signing this agreement, including their full name, home address, marital status, and signature in the provided space.

6. Tenant's obligations
The tenant agrees to comply with the obligations established in this agreement, including payment of rent, exclusive use of the property for residential purposes, care of the property, and communication of any necessary repairs or maintenance.

7. Landlord's obligations
The landlord agrees to deliver the residential property in habitable conditions and in good state of conservation, and to perform necessary repairs to maintain the property in good conditions.

This agreement is executed in

Signature

Initials

Name

Address

Marital Status

Single

Married

Divorced

Now the field "Spouse Name" only appears when the option "Married" is selected

Add logic to the signing process so that if an action is performed on one fillable control field, additional actions will be required on others. Conditional fields can help to streamline and personalize the eSignature process by only presenting the relevant information and options to the signer.